An Observational study to ascertain the action of Pulsatilla in management of Spasmodic Dysmenorrhoea

Dr Manisha D. Kale

Abstract: An observational study was done to ascertain the action of Pulsatilla in management of spasmodic Dysmenorrhoea from 3 different locations (sites). 150 cases were documented for at least three to four consecutive menstrual cycles. The intensity and duration of pain was recorded. The final result of the study was recorded after 90-120 days of observations.

Keywords: Spasmodic dysmenorrhoea, Adolescent, Prostaglandin, Homoeopathy, Pulsatilla

(Contd. from November Issue)

Family History

Table 5. Family history of Dysmenorrhoea cases in sample study

Family history of Dysmenorrhoea	N	%
Positive	63	42%
Negative	87	58%
Total	150	100%

Fig.5. The proportion of family history of Dysmenorrhoea in sample study

Family history of Dysmenorrhoea	N	Observed Proportion	Test Proportion	p value
Positive	63	0.42	0.5	0.06 <sup>a</sup>
Negative	87	0.58		(NS)
Total	150	1

a. Based on Z Approximation. NS- Not Significant

Interpretation: In this data, just about half of those who were having positive history of Dysmenorrhoea or just below the test proportion was 0.5. As hypothesis states here, the difference in proportions is not significant. It was not rejected at  $p = 0.06$ . i.e. Family history of dysmenorrhoea did not make any difference in this study.

Effect of Treatment

Table 6. Effect of the treatment in sample study

Effect of the treatment	N	%
Recovered	112	75%
Improved	28	19%
Dropped	10	7%
Total	150	100%

Fig. 6. Effect of the treatment in sample study

Effect of the treatment	Observed frequency	Expected frequency	Residual	Chi-Square test value	df	p value
Recovered	112	50	62	118.6	2	0.0001
Improved	28	50	-22
Dropped	10	50	-40
Total

*** Highly significant

Interpretation: In the study of 150 patients, the effect of the treatment observed: recovery in 112, improvement in 28 and dropped cases 10, resulting in, 50 expected patients per effect. The residual is equal to the observed frequency minus the expected value. The table shows that, the number of patients' recovered was more than improved and dropped out. An assumption "effect of the treatments equal in all patients" was expected.

The low significance value (p=0.0001) suggests that the patients' recovery was highly significant in the study.

Duration of pain vs Nature of Menstrual flow

Table 7: Duration of Menstrual flow.

Duration of pain	Nature of Menstrual flow				Chi-Square Tests
	Moderate	Pro-fuse	Scanty	Total	Chi-Square Test value	df	p value
One day	15 (33%)	15 (37%)	11 (17%)	41 (27%)	40.041	4	0.0001
Two days	29 (65%)	23 (56%)	22 (34%)	74 (49%)
Three days	1 (2%)	3 (7%)	31 (49%)	35 (23%)
Total	45 (100%)	41 (100%)	64 (100%)	150 (100%)

*** Highly significant

Interpretation: It was observed in the study, the high number of patients were having scanty nature of menstrual flow 64 (43%) and duration of pain for two days 74 (49%). A hypothesis stated here that, "duration of pain is not associated with nature of menstrual flow". It was rejected at the level of significance (p=0.0001). It was concluded that, duration of pain was strongly associated with nature of menstrual flow in the study.

Association b/w Age group and Miasm

Age group (years)	Miasm			Chi-Square Tests
	Psora	Psorosy-cotic	Psoro-syphi-litic	Total	Chi-Square Test value	df	p value
<=20	76 (84%)	25 (46%)	0	101 (67%)	32.006	2	0.0001
>20	14 (16%)	30 (54%)	5 (100%)	49 (33%)
Total	90 (100%)	55 (100%)	5 (100%)	150 (100%)

*** Highly significant

Interpretation: It was observed in the study, the high number of patients were having psora miasm 90(60%) and dominance age group was <=20 years, 101(67%). A hypothesis stated here that, "age group is not associated with Miasm." It was rejected at the level of significance (p=0.0001). So it was concluded that, age group was strongly associated with Miasm.

Action of Pulsatilla: Duration taken for pain to subside in Patients

Table 8 Duration (minutes) for pain to subside to ascertain the rapidity of action of Pulsatilla.

Duration for pain to subside	Observed frequency	Expected frequency	Residual	Chi-Square value	df	p value
20 minutes	38 (25%)	37.5	0.5	32.133	3	0.0001
30 minutes	61 (41%)	37.5	23.5
40 minutes	39 (26%)	37.5	1.5
50 minutes	12 (8%)	37.5	-25.5
Total	150

*** Highly significant

Interpretation: In the study of 150 patients, duration for pain to subside was observed as: 61 patients in 30 minutes followed by in 40, 20 and 50 minutes, with 37 expected patients per group(min). The residual is equal to the observed frequency minus the expected value.

RESEARCH

The table shows that, the duration of pain subsided in 61(41%) in 30 minutes followed by 39(26%) in 40 minutes and so on. An assumption "the duration (minutes) to subside pain is equal in all patients" was expected.

The low significance value ( $p=0.0001$ ) suggests that the duration for pain to subside in 61 (41%) patients was 30 minutes, was highly significant and differed by other duration 20, 40 and 50 minutes in the study.

Discussion

In my study, it was observed that primary dysmenorrhoea was more common to women of sedentary occupation, especially students. In the study, it was found that 110 cases out of 150 were students. According to the study, the incidence was more common among the women in their later tweens and twenties. Frequency of cases increased up to age of 20 and then decreased with advancing age. Through the present study, the incidence of Primary Dysmenorrhoea were analyzed and it was found that age group between 15 to 20 years have high incidence, out of 150 cases 98 cases (65%) belonged to the group. The next high incidence in descending order 20-25, 25-30 and 30-35. This was 17%, 11% and 7% in group respectively.

So out of 150 cases, 98 cases were found below the age of 20 years and other cases above the age of 20 years.

Discussion from My Observational Study

During and just before menstruation most women are less efficient physically and more unstable emotionally. These factors alone will lower the pain threshold and lead to exaggeration of minor discomfort. Perception of the same degree of peripheral stimulus will be interpreted differently; a phlegmatic woman may describe moderate discomfort, while a high-strong, supersensitive woman might describe severe and perhaps incapacitating pain.

Psychologic factors may alter the perception of pain. Anxious, apprehensive, nervous, tense women are prone to suffer. Few psychological circumstances like unhappiness at home or at work, fear of losing employment, and anxiety over examinations or any such causes can cause dysmenorrhoea. The allopathic physician sees only the physical factors and prescribe for it. But in homoeopathy, which gives prime importance to the psychological outlay, treatment is better. All these factors clearly define the psychological impact in the perception of pain.

Dysmenorrhoea which used to be one of the ethological puzzles of gynaecology, has responded to intensive investigations, and significant advances have been made. The causation of dysmenorrhoea has been now understood extensively as the "Prostaglandin (PG) theory." At menstruation, PGs are released and produce the contractility of the uterine muscle and vasculature, causing contractions, ischemia and associated pain. High concentration of endometrial prostaglandin production requires the sequential stimulation by oestrogen followed by progesterone. So, dysmenorrhoea will be present only in the ovulatory cycle. The pain of dysmenorrhoea will start only after some period of menarche, because the menstruation of first few periods are only due to oestrogen withdrawal and are anovulatory.

The pain of primary dysmenorrhoea usually begins a few hours before or just after the onset of a menstrual period and may last up to 48-72 hours, although in some cases it may continue throughout several days. In the given study 74 cases gave the history of duration of pain lasting for 2 days, 35 cases for 3 days and 41 cases for 1 day.

The differentiation between primary and secondary dysmenorrhoea may be difficult, so the history is of obvious importance. The history should include the age of onset and its temporal relationship to menarche. The symptoms experienced, their association with the onset of menstruation, and their duration are of differentiating importance. Ultrasound scanning can be useful if pelvic examination has been difficult or inconclusive. So in my study I used Ultrasonography to diagnose a case, which excludes the organic causes of secondary dymenorrhoea.

Because of the many symptoms and the millions of sufferers, menstrual cramps have been traditionally considered by the medical community as a "mirror" of female ailment. But the problem is either ignored or else treated with powerful painkilling drugs and tranquilizers. Often these drugs has significant side effects and does nothing to alleviate or help prevent the problem on a long-term basis.

According to Jeffocate, 'A dysmenorrhoeic mother has a dysmenorrhoeic daughter.' Some girls experience dysmenorrhoea mainly because their education and outlook on sex is faulty. In few cases the girls may be influenced by their mothers and sisters by seeing or hearing their sufferings.

According to Novak, 30% of the patients of dysmenorrhoeic mothers had painful periods. In my study, it was found that in 150 cases, 63 patient had positive family history of dysmenorrhoea that is 42% and 87 patient had negative family history that is 58%. So, family history of dysmenorrhoea did not make any difference in this study.

In the study of 150 cases, the effect of treatment observed recovery in 112 cases, improvement in 28 cases and dropped cases 10. The low significance value ( $P = 0.0001$ ) suggest that the patient recovery was highly significant in the study. All NSAIDs are thought to be effective in relieving pain. But, up to 70% gastrointestinal toxicity is a particular concern with NSAIDs and NSAIDs may worsen asthma, hypertension, renal impairment, or cardiac failure. Also, the PG inhibitors have various side effects, which range from minor ailments to major life-threatening ailments. They include ailments like nausea, vomiting, dyspepsia, diarrhea, rash, G.I ulcers, bronchospasm, nephritic syndrome, acute interstitial nephritis, acute papillary and tubular necrosis etc. Sometimes these may even include neurological symptoms like disorientation, dizziness, blurred vision, nervousness etc.

Now a day, the use of contraceptive pills for primary dysmenorrhoea has been a custom in allopathy by the idea that an an-ovulatory cycle will not produce pain. The relief of dysmenorrhoea is generally limited to the cycle treated and the patient may have breakthrough bleeding, weight gain, breast tenderness, acne and mood changes as the effects of treatment.

Dilatation of cervix is still practiced even though the idea was depreciated. The women may develop chronic cervicitis, ectropion, and incompetent cervix, which will lead to premature labor or habitual abortions in the subsequent pregnancies. Few studies have been shown the efficaciousness of vitamins and mineral supplementations in the treatment of primary dysmenorrhoea.

Above all the psychological overlay should be given much importance in treating a patient with dysmenorrhoea. The best hope of limiting the intensity of spasmodic dysmenorrhoea, or the incapacitation it causes, lies in teaching young girls a proper outlook on menstruation, a simple explanation of its physiology and health in general. Women suffering from severe dysmenorrhoea need sympathy and support. According to allopathic line of management with symptomatology of dysmenorrhoea in all the cases and prescriptions were made only on a trial basis. And if one mode fails they will go to next step of management. Thus they begin their treatment with simple analgesics, goes to oral pills and PG inhibitors and in few cases may end in surgery. They are giving much importance to the common symptoms of the disease only.

For the treatment of a case of primary dysmenorrhoea, peculiar symptoms during the episode and symptoms during the intermenstrual period are considered in homoeopathy. As far as miasm is concerned most of the authors say dysmenorrhoea showing itself very early, at puberty are psoric in nature. All functional menstrual disorders come under psoric miasm. In my study of 150 patients, miasm observed 'Psora patients were more (90) than psoro-sycotic (55) and Psoro-sphilitic.'

Summary and Conclusion

After understanding the clinical presentation of primary dysmenorrhoea, I studied 150 confirmed cases of Primary dysmenorrhoea for the present study.

All 150 cases were studied in detail to draw the following conclusion:

1. The highest incidence falls in the age group of 15-20 years (65%)
2. The nature of menstrual flow was observed scanty in maximum number of cases (43%)
3. During primary dysmenorrhoea, the duration of pain lasted for 2 days in maximum number of cases (49%)
4. After detail study of 'Miasmatic dominance,' it was found that 60% cases belonged to Psora.
5. The family history of dysmenorrhoea did not make any difference in my study, and found 42% cases with positive family history and 58% cases with negative family history.
6. In the study 75% of 150 cases, 112 cases recovered completely.
7. For rapidity of action of 'Pulsatilla,' the duration for pain to subside was observed to be 30 minutes in maximum cases (41%)

From all above observations, I conclude this research work definite role in treating Primary dysmenorrhoea and the action of Pulsatilla nigricans in treating spasmodic dysmenorrhoea have been proved.

Limitations

1. The study was limited for primary dysmenorrhoea only.
2. Secondary dysmenorrhoea is always with some pathological change or any over growth like ovarian cyst uterine fibroid, polyp etc. So, the pain of secondary dysmenorrhoea cannot be cured by a

- single homoeopathic remedy.
- In emergency cases, like fainting condition or shock due to severe agonizing where the patient needs hospitalization, homoeopathy has limitations.
  - The study was just a verbal method i.e. history taking where subjective bias related, the study had not included any objective assessment for analysis the cases.

Result

The psycho-social factors like ignorance, irritability, anxious, apprehensive, nervous, tense women are prone to suffer from spasmodic dysmenorrhoea. In this study, 472 patients were screened from 3 sites and 150 were enrolled. The homoeopathic medicine Pulsatilla n. was administered during the attack of Primary dysmenorrhoea for 3-4 cycles consecutively and records were maintained during each follow-up of patient.

The result was categorized:

- Recovered: The patients who fulfilled the above criteria for 3 months or more were considered to be completely recovered if there was overall relief of the symptoms.
- Improved: The patient was considered to be improved when the intensity of pain lessened, duration become short with less associated symptoms improving with the treatment but not completely cured.
- Dropped: The patient whose symptoms were not improving were considered to be dropped and those patient was unable to continue also.

The data was analyzed by Chi-square test and statistical significance of the differences between phases was tested and p-value 0.001 was taken as statistically significant and this p-value is highly significant. The low significance value ( $p = 0.0001$ ) suggests that the patient's recovery was highly significant in the study.

For rapidity of action of 'Pulsatilla,' the duration for pain to subside was 30 minutes in maximum cases (41%). From all above observations, I conclude this research work definite action of Pulsatilla nigricans in treating spasmodic dysmenorrhoea have been proved.

Abstract

Gastritis is acute or chronic inflammation of the stomach and is most often diffuse, mostly caused by Helicobacter pylori and bile reflux. It is the commonest disorder encountered in the clinical practice. Change in dietary habits – like having irregular meals, fast foods, addictions like smoking and alcohol also play major role. Although not life threatening as other major illness, the symptoms can be distressing and can cause discomfort to enjoy normal life and drain the mental and physical energy. If gastritis is not treated earlier the complications are grave like peptic ulcer, pyloric stenosis and subsequent perforation. Homoeopathy plays a major role in treating gastritis. Homoeopathy is very effective in managing all the acute as well as chronic expressions of gastritis. It also plays an important role in prevention of relapse of the condition.

Keywords: Gastritis, Homoeopathy

Introduction: Gastritis is an inflammation, irritation, or erosion of the lining of the stomach. It can occur suddenly (acute) or gradually (chronic).<sup>1</sup> Gastritis can be caused by irritation due to excessive alcohol use, chronic vomiting, stress, or the use of certain medications such as aspirin or other anti-inflammatory drugs. It may also be caused by any of the following:

- Helicobacter pylori (H. pylori): A bacteria that lives in the mucous lining of the stomach.
- Pernicious anemia.
- Bile reflux.
- Infections caused by bacteria.<sup>2</sup>
- Pathology: The mucosal injury and subsequent acute inflammation occurs by reduced blood flow, resulting in mucosal hypo-perfusion due to ischemia. Increased acid secretion and its accumulation due to H. pylori infection resulting in damage to epithelial barrier. Decreased production of bicarbonate buffer. Reflux of duodenal contents into the stomach.<sup>3</sup>

Clinical classification of gastritis:

- Acute gastritis: It refers to short term inflammation and to neutrophilic infiltrate. It is mainly due to stress.
- Chronic gastritis: It refers to longstanding forms and to mononuclear cell infiltrates especially lymphocytes and macrophages.

Common gastritis: It is mainly due to Helicobacter pylori and bile reflux.<sup>4</sup>

Some of the Non Gastro Intestinal associated disorders which induce gastritis or inflammation of gastric mucosa are coronary heart disease, Rosacea, iron deficiency and anorexia in aging.<sup>5</sup>

Clinical features: The most common symptoms include : nausea or recurrent upset stomach, anorexia, abdominal bloating, abdominal discomfort, pain, vomiting, indigestion, burning or gnawing feeling in the stomach between meals or at night, hiccoughs, loss of appetite, vomiting blood or coffee ground-like material and black tarry stools.<sup>6</sup>

Complications: They are infrequent but may include ulcer, polyps, benign and malignant and cancer.<sup>7</sup>

Diagnosis: To diagnose gastritis, we have to review the personal and family medical history of the patient and after performing a thorough physical evaluation, any of the following tests may be recommended

- Upper gastrointestinal endoscopy
- CBC
- Tissue Biopsy.
- Fecal occult blood test.*

Homoeopathic approach:

Nux vomica: Heart burn with flatulence, nausea and vomiting in the morning, he feels if 'I could only vomit, I would be so much better.' alternating constipation and diarrhoea. Nux vomica is indicated in cases of chronic gastritis which is caused by tobacco, alcoholic stimulants, aromatic or patent medicines, sedentary habits, highly spiced food, Contractive, squeezing and stomach ache.

Lycopodium: It has pain in the pit of the stomach when the hypochondria are pressed and pain in hypochondria when stomach is pressed. There is fullness even after light meal with no intestinal irritation. Offensive discharges. Characteristic of Lycopodium is the patient goes to meal with a vigorous appetite, but after eating a small quantity of food he feels so full and bloated that he has to force himself to swallow another mouthful and leaves the table with his hunger, only momentarily satisfied.

Phosphorous: Gastritis with chronic erosion. Burning, gnawing circumscribed pain. The ail gone feeling at 11 a.m. starting from stomach to bowel.

Arsenicum album: Burning pain in stomach like FIRE, as if hot coals were applied to part, better by hot application, hot drinks, nausea, retching, and vomiting of slimy mucous tingled with blood.

Veratrum album: Hiccoughs after hot drinks. Forceful eructation mostly of air. After frequent eructation copious ejection of mucous. Colicky pain with salivation, profuse cold perspiration.

Conclusion:

Homoeopathy has a holistic approach, Gastritis is related to stress where Homoeopathy plays a very good role in managing it, it will also help to reduce the nausea, burning, belching and symptoms associated with the illness.

THE NATURAL WAY TO STRENGTHEN YOUR CHILD'S IMMUNITY

Dr. Kiran Tidake MD (Hom.)

Dhanvantari Homoeopathic Medical College & Hospital, Nashik
Consultant at Shree Homoeopathic clinic, Nashik

The human body is susceptible to many diseases. 'Immunity' or the immune system of the body is inherently capable of protecting the body from the infections caused by bacteria, viruses, etc. A healthy child is one who is eating well, whose activity levels are fine, is growing normally, and is developing social, learning and physical skills properly. Apart from basic milestones, life pattern and nutrition are the most vital things required for the child to have a strong immune system.

The immunity of a grown adult is strong enough to fight against many infectious diseases, but children may have a comparatively less-powerful immunity. It makes them more prone to getting infections as compared to an adult. Eating healthy food and getting enough rest and exercise may not be enough to boost the child's immune system, particularly when the children are being exposed to bacteria and viruses in this increasingly polluted environment. Homeopathic medicines are used to treat children's from various infectious diseases without causing any side effects.

It's vital to get the newborns build a strong immune system before they are exposed to cold viruses. A virus that is capable of mild illness in an older child or an adult can cause a more serious illness in a newborn. Homoeopathy is a natural way by which you can boost the immune system of your baby. An infant who falls ill repeatedly can benefit from homoeopathy as it will build the child's resistance and his immunity becomes better.

Homoeopathic remedy stimulates the body's natural healing ability and encourages the immune system to get back to its job – of protecting against infections. As the child's immune response becomes stronger, their natural resistance increases, so they become less prone to picking up "all that is going around". At the same time, if and when they do fall ill, they can throw off infections much more quickly and easily.

CAUSES OF WEAKENING OF THE IMMUNE SYSTEM

The changing life pattern of parents because of work pressure, environmental factors, food habits, deficiency of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients have definite negative influence on the immunity, which also passes on to the children. Cases of frequent infections and allergies are increasing. It covers minor cold, cough, running nose, tonsillitis, bronchitis, allergic rhinitis, allergic skin problems, etc.

HOMEOPATHIC APPROACH TO IRREGULAR MENSES

Dr. Mohit Parasmal Jain, MD (Hom),
Assistant Professor Dept. of Hom. Pharmacy at Dhanvantari Homoeopathic Medical College, Nashik

A menstrual cycle begins when women's get her first period or menstruate. This is when the shedding of the lining of the uterus starts. This cycle is part of the reproductive system and prepares the body for a possible pregnancy. A typical cycle lasts between 24 and 38 days. Women start menstruating at the average age of 12. However, some of them begin menstruating as early as 8 years old or as late as 16 years old. Women stop menstruating at menopause, which occurs at about the age of 51.

WHAT IS MENSTRUATION?

Menstruation is the monthly shedding of the lining of women's uterus. Menstruation is also known by the terms menses, menstrual period, menstrual cycle or period. The Menstrual blood is partly blood and partly tissue inside the uterus and which flows from the uterus through the cervix and comes out of the body through the vagina.

Menstruation is driven by hormones. Hormones are chemical messengers in the women's body. The pituitary gland (in brain) and ovaries (part of reproductive system) make and release certain hormones at certain times during the menstrual cycle. These hormones cause the lining of the uterus to thicken. This happens so that if a pregnancy would occur, an egg can implant into the uterine lining. Hormones also cause the ovaries to release an egg (ovulation). The egg moves down into the fallopian tubes, where it waits for sperm. If a sperm doesn't fertilize that egg, pregnancy doesn't occur. The lining of the uterus breaks down and sheds. This is called as menstrual period.

WHAT IS A MENSTRUAL CYCLE?

The menstrual cycle is a term to describe the sequence of events that occur in the body as it prepares for the possibility of pregnancy each month. The menstrual cycle is the time from the first day of the menstrual period until the first day of the next menstrual period. Every woman's cycle is slightly different, but the process is the same. The average length of a menstrual cycle is 28 days. However, a cycle can range in length from 21 days to about 35 days and still be normal.

WHAT ARE THE FOUR PHASES OF THE MENSTRUAL CYCLE?

The rise and fall of your hormones trigger the steps in the menstrual cycle. The hormones cause the organs of the reproductive tract to respond in certain ways. The specific events that occur during the menstrual cycle are:

The menses phase: This phase, which typically lasts from day one to day five, is the time when the lining of the uterus sheds through your vagina if pregnancy hasn't occurred. Most of the women bleed for three to five days, but a period lasting only for three days to as many as seven days is usually not a cause for worry.

The follicular phase: This phase typically takes place from days six to 14. During this time, the level of the hormone estrogen rises, which causes the lining of uterus (the endometrium) to grow and thicken. In addition, another hormone — follicle-stimulating hormone (FSH) — causes follicles in the ovaries to grow. During days 10 to 14, one of the developing follicles will form a fully mature egg (ovum).

Ovulation: This phase occurs roughly at about day 14 in a 28-day menstrual cycle. A sudden increase in another hormone — luteinizing hormone (LH) — causes the ovary to release its egg. This event is ovulation.

The luteal phase: This phase lasts from about day 15 to day 28. The egg leaves ovary and begins to travel through the fallopian tubes to uterus. The level of the hormone progesterone rises to help prepare the uterine lining for pregnancy. If the egg becomes fertilized by sperm and attaches itself to the uterine wall (Implantation), and becomes pregnant. If pregnancy doesn't occur, estrogen and progesterone levels drop and the thick lining of the uterus sheds during the period.

WHAT ARE SYMPTOMS OF GETTING A PERIOD?

Some women's experience symptoms of menstruation and others don't. The intensity of these symptoms can also vary. The most common symptom is cramps. A cramping which feels in the pelvic area is the uterine contraction which releases its lining.

- Signs of getting period are
- Mood changes.
- Trouble sleeping.
- Headache.
- Food cravings.
- Bloating.
- Breast tenderness.
- Acne.

WHAT IS CONSIDERED AS AN IRREGULAR PERIOD?

Irregular menstruation describes anything that's not a normal menstrual period. Some examples of an irregular period are:

- Periods that occurs less than 21 days or more than 35 days apart.
- Not having a period for three months (or 90 days).
- Menstrual flow that's much heavier or lighter than usual.
- Period bleeding that lasts longer than seven days.
- Periods that is accompanied by severe pain, cramping, nausea or vomiting.
- Bleeding or spotting that happens between periods.

Irregular menses is typical in early puberty and not generally perturbing. Women should be alarmed when periods are spaced out for more than two months, as this may suggest hormonal imbalance and ovulation problems. A woman's customary hormonal cycle is contingent upon a subtle equilibrium between different hormones. Several potential triggers can stimulate hormonal imbalance leading to irregular menses. If a woman fails to ovulate, her ovaries will not receive a signal to produce a hormone called progesterone. Progesterone is essential in regulating the Uterine lining called endometrium, which is discarded during menstruation. Without progesterone, the endometrium persistently grows until it starts to break down and is disposed off as a very heavy uterine bleeding. The endometrium may also shed partially and intermittently, and bleeding becomes irregular or prolonged.

CAUSES OF IRREGULAR MENSES:

- Puberty.
- Birth control pills.
- Stress.
- Poor diet due to anorexia, bulimia can influence your hormones.
- Excessive weight loss or gain.
- Intense exercise.
- Breast-feeding.
- Anxiety regarding pregnancy.
- Anemia.
- Menopause.

HOMOEOPATHIC APPROACH TO IRREGULAR MENSES:

Homeopathy offers an extensive range of options than conventional medicine. Homeopathic treatment for Irregular Menstruation is very competent, non-invasive, safe and inexpensive. Homeopathy treats the patient as a whole and looks deeper into the problem, promotes the immune function and maintains uterine health by eliminating the causative factor.

Homeopathic Constitutional treatment based on the holistic approach stimulates the natural hormonal balance without administering any harmful hormone preparations. The goal of this Homeopathic approach is to enliven the body's natural healing and self-repair ability to treat the underlying condition, to prevent it and to create the highest state of health and well-being.

Constitutional Homeopathic treatment with the management of an experienced and professional Homeopath is an excellent choice for Irregular Menstruation. It is not advisable to resort to self-medication for any disease.

Homeopathy offers natural treatment for irregular periods. Since homeopathic medicines are very mild and made of natural substances, they treat irregular periods without any side effects. Homeopathic medicines are selected individually for every case after a detailed case analysis, thereby offering a highly individualized treatment.

Hence, appreciate a natural way to a healthy uterus, convalesce healthy living and curtail the changes that happen during the menstrual years.

संदर्भ : मआविदि/एसडब्ल्यू/स्किम/१७०/२०२३ दि. ०१/०६/२०२३

महोदय/महोदया,

शैक्षणिक वर्ष २०२३-२४ साठी विद्यापीठाने लागू केलेल्या बहिःशाल शिक्षण मंडळ योजनेसाठीचे प्रस्ताव विद्यापीठाशी संलग्नित असलेल्या महाविद्यालयांकडून मागविण्यात आले आहेत. योजनेच्या अटी व शर्ती तसेच विद्यापीठाच्या प्राधिकरणाने घेतलेल्या निर्णया नुसार प्रस्तावाची छाननी केल्यानंतर सदर योजनेचे अनुदान मिळणेकरीता आपल्या महाविद्यालयाचा प्रस्ताव पात्र ठरला आहे.

त्याअनुषंगाने योजने अंतर्गत विद्यापीठाचे अनुदान रु. १०,०००/- व ऑडीट फी रु. ५००/- असे एकूण रक्कम रु. १०,५००/- इतक्या रक्कमेचे आर.टी.जी.एस. दि. २३/११/२०२३ रोजी महाविद्यालयाच्या बचत खात्यात जमा करण्यात आले आहे. योजनेतर्गत आपल्या महाविद्यालयात सिनीयर विद्यार्थी व नविन प्रवेशित विद्यार्थ्यांसाठी रॅगिंग विषयी व्याख्यानमाला व समुपदेशन, रॅगिंग विषयी शिक्षक व महाविद्यालय आबारातील इतर घटक उदा. वार्डन, कॅन्टीन स्टाफ, सुरक्षा रक्षक यांचेसाठी व्याख्यान माला, महिला सबलीकरण, स्त्री भुणहत्या, व्यसनमुक्ती, संवाद कौशल्य विकास, व्यक्तीमत्व विकास, आपत्ती व्यवस्थापन, तणाव व्यवस्थापन अवयवदान जनजागृती, कुपोषण समस्या, रोकड रहित (Cashless) या विषयांवर परिसंवाद/चर्चासत्रे/शिबीर आयोजित करावयाची आहेत. सदर व्याख्यानमालेसाठी व परिसंवाद/चर्चासत्रे/शिबीर यासाठी वक्त्यांचे वैयक्तीक माहितीपत्र (बोयोडाटा) या विभागाच्या माहितीसाठी पाठविण्यात यावा. सामाजिक जबाबदारीमध्ये विद्यापीठाचाही थोडाफार हातभार असावा या हेतूने सदर योजने करीता देण्यात येणारे अनुदान हे निव्वळ खर्च होण्यासाठी किंवा खर्चाची प्रतिपूर्ती म्हणून न पाहता समाज नवनिर्मातेच्या कामात सहभाग घेऊन सामाजिक ऋणांची परतफेड करण्यासाठी मिळालेली संधी या दृष्टीने घ्यावे. त्यासाठी विद्यापीठाने महाविद्यालयास सदर योजनेअंतर्गत दिलेल्या अनुदान रक्कमेच्या हिशोबाचे समायोजन
